CUBA HURRICANE DISASTER

Thousands Injured by Storm

Havana, Sept. 4.
Over a hundred have been killed in Cuba as a result of the hurricane which struck the island on Friday.

Thousands were injured, a hundred thousand have been rendered homeless and are threatened with famine and disease.—Reuter.

AIRSHIP DISASTER CANARD

SUPPOSED CRASH WITH ALL HANDS

RIGA REPORTS DISPROVED

London, Sept. 4.
According to a sensational report from Stockholm, all occupants of the Soviet airship "W5" were killed when the airship crashed while it was making a trial flight between Moscow and Leningrad.

The Stockholm report is said to have emanated from Riga.

ANOTHER "DISASTER".

It is further reported that another Soviet airship, the "W3," crashed recently, all aboard being killed, but the accident was not disclosed by the Soviet.—Reuter.

Moscow, Sept. 4.

The reported crash of the "W5" is a sheer invention, as the airship is, at the present moment, flying over Moscow.—Reuter.

PEAK "BOY" CHARGED

LACK OF EVIDENCE OF THEFT

Mr. E. G. Buttress, the local rugby player, appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning to prosecute his house boy, Chun Cheung, for the theft of sixty cents from his residence on the Peak.

Sub-Inspector Shepherd stated that Mr. Buttress had been losing odds and ends. On Saturday before going to the bathroom he had $2.40 in his trousers pocket. He was away for about twenty minutes. Meanwhile the "boy" had been in the room setting the table for breakfast.

Later, on counting his money, Mr. Buttress found 60 cents to be missing. He straightaway accused the "boy" and on searching him found exactly 60 cents. Mr. Buttress could not identify the coins, as unfortunately they were not marked. There was no other evidence.

Mr. Wynne-Jones: We have to presume he got that money lawfully. It is up to you to prove your case. Unless you can definitely swear that nobody else was in the room except the boy, I must let him go.

Mr. Buttress: I cannot definitely swear to that.

Mr. Wynne-Jones: Defendant is discharged.

RED MENACE IN FUKIEN REMOVED

BRILLIANT WORK BY LOCAL AMATEURS

A HIGH STANDARD ESTABLISHED

"THREE YEARS AGO, WE SHOULD HAVE DECLARED IT TO BE IMPOSSIBLE TO IMPROVE THE STANDARD OF LOCAL AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHY TO ITS PRESENT HIGH LEVEL," DECLARED MR. E. A. VON KOBZA-NAGY AND MR. J. H. HUNT, WHO ACTED AS JUDGES IN THE "TELEGRAPH'S" HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL COMPETITION.

"Last year's entries were excellent, but where the outstanding pictures could have been counted on the hands, there are dozens to-day. The improvement has been striking, both on the artistic and the technical side. Some of the pictures would easily go into a Royal Photographic Society exhibition.

"On the other hand, there were some pictures which technically were little short of perfection, but which dealt with inferior subjects.

THE FULL LIST OF WINNERS

"The Telegraph" is to be congratulated upon the results of its efforts. The marked advance in amateur work in the Colony must undoubtedly be attributed to the organization of the annual summer competition.

"It has stimulated interest all round and has given amateurs an incentive to experiment in photography as an art. They have seen what advanced amateurs can do and have endeavoured to achieve similar results with astonishing success in so short a time."

The names of the prize-winners are appended:

SECTION ONE.

Bathing and Picnic Pictures.

First ($50): "Wave Tracery," by Loong Pei-tak, 35, Cumberland Road, Kowloon Tong.

Second ($20): "The Bathers" by Richard Chau, 37, Kai Tak Bund, Kowloon City.

Third ($10): "Sampan" by M. Weill, c/o Weill and Co. Pedder Building.

SECTION TWO.

Views, Architecture and Street Scenes.

First ($50): "View of Aberdeen" by Henry Dejung.

Second ($20): "Early Morning at Shaikwan" by Loong Pei-tak.

Third ($10): "Through the Arch" by H. N. Moran, Police Headquarters.

SECTION THREE.

Chinese Studies, Faces and Figures.

First ($50): "Smile of the Ages" by Chan Seck-fong, St. John's Hall, H.K. University.

Second ($20): "Travelling Monk," by S. W. Coleman, c/o Western Electric Company.

Third ($10): "Fisherman," by D. G. Cairns, c/o Harbour Office.

SECTION FOUR.

Best Story Telling Picture.

First: New Kodak 616 with K. A. 1.45 Lens (Pictures 2 1/2 x 4 1/2)—Roll Film.

Second: New Kodak 620 with f.6.3 Lens (Pictures 2 1/2 x 3 1/4)—Roll Film.

Third: "A Bargain" by Loong Pei-tak.

SECTION FIVE.

Confined to Children.

First ($10): Tony Green, 1, Peak Road.

Five Consolation Prizes of No. 2 Eastman Hawk-Eye Box Camera (Pictures 2 1/2 x 4 1/2).

Roll Film.) Presented by the Eastman Kodak Company, Ng Sai-ching, 39, Robinson Road; William Garcia, 8 Tung Chung Building; Geoffrey Arnold, 4 Torren Building; Joyce Humphrey, 243 Nathan Road; George Li, c/o Mens Kan Lun Tai, 17 Connaught Road Central.

HIGHLY COMMENDED.

The average level of merit was remarkably high and the judges had an unusually heavy task. Highly Commended certificates were awarded to the following competitors, some of whom had more than one picture in this category: Messrs. Tsang Hing-chiu, Loong Pei-tak, Henry Dejung, T. W. Goh, Mrs. J. W. Platt, Messrs. Kan Chor-choi, U. Shing-cheung, C. B. L. Bander, Ng Cheong-ning, W. D. Hissett, Chan Seck-fong, R. Schiller, Tsang Hin-chiu, R. Chau, H. A. Castro, Ng Siu-ching, Billy Shannon, Bertie Xavier, Terence Lockhart, Ching Kai-shiu, W. W. Chan.

JUDGES' COMMENTS.

The judging was very kindly undertaken by Mr. J. H. Hunt, O.B.E. and Mr. E. A. von Kobza-Nagy.

Both were highly pleased with the entries, remarking that the standard was much higher than that of a year ago.

The strongest section, both numerically and in quality, was Section Two, to which a large number of really beautiful pictures were contributed.

The only disappointing section was Section Three. The winning efforts were easily outstanding. The competitors made the mistake, in most cases, of dealing only with the lower types.

HUMAN INTEREST.

Bathing picture competitors produced excellent pictures technically, but showed very little ingenuity in composition. There was a lack of human interest in the photographs, for the most part. An extraordinary fondness for taking pictures of the backs of bathers was a marked feature.

The story-telling section was strong photographically, but the story which was intended to be conveyed was so often vague. The winning efforts achieved a very high standard of excellence, both in subject and in technique.

ANGLE TECHNIQUE.

Many competitors attempted photographs from strange angles and most of them missed their purpose completely.

A small section of the exhibition of entries in the "Telegraph's" amateur photographic competition. The exhibition is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and no charge is being made for admission.

BOLD RAID ON TUNGNING

JAPANESE FORCE HARD PRESSED

ANTI-MANCHUKUO OPERATIONS

Harbin, Sept. 3.
A sharp encounter between about six hundred well-armed anti-Manchukuo volunteer forces and a contingent of Japanese troops is now taking place outside Tungning.

It is learned that the Volunteers reached the outskirts of Tungning on Friday evening. Their progress was halted by troops from the Japanese garrison, who hurriedly left to engage the attackers.

Four hours of sanguinary fighting, in which heavy losses are reported to have occurred on both sides, produced no decisive result.

The Japanese forces, finding themselves exceedingly hard pressed and thinned down as a result of casualties, sent back to Tungning for reinforcements. The rest of the Japanese garrison was rushed to the scene of the engagement to assist their fellows and fighting was still in progress this morning.—Reuter.

ESCAPE FROM THE TOMBS

BIG SENSATION IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 3.
Three prisoners, who were awaiting trial for serious crimes, have escaped from the famous Tombs Prison.

The Tombs have hitherto been regarded as escape-proof.

The fugitives are still at large. Police in large squads are now combing Chinatown for them, armed with tear-gas bombs and machine-guns.—Reuter.

Charging a Chinese woman before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning, with keeping a sly-brothel at 12 Li Chit Street, Wanchai, Det-Insp. Baker said the brothel was "rather a large place."

There were nine prostitutes. A fine of $200 or three months was imposed.

and entirely the children's section was an outstanding success. Some of the portraits, particularly, were excellent. The work of the children, as a whole, was very good, but the comparative fewness of animal pictures struck the judges.

ATTACK ON SOFIA LEGATIONS

Three Hundred Reds Arrested

Sofia, Sept. 4.
Three hundred Communists were arrested yesterday after a large mob had stoned the police following an attempt to hold a prohibited mass demonstration. The German and Czechoslovak Legations were attacked and their windows broken.—Reuter.

FLOOD HAVOC IN SHANTUNG

OVER $130,000,000 DAMAGE

THREE MILLION AFFECTED

Nanking, Sept. 3.
A shocking story of distress in Shantung is related by delegates of the Shantung Provincial Government who have arrived in Nanking to report on the Yellow River floods to the central authorities.

They described conditions as appalling. No fewer than twenty-three hien in Western Shantung, including 103,000 mow of farmland, have been inundated.

Over three million people are directly affected by the disaster and thousands of them are absolutely homeless.

The total damage in West Shantung alone is estimated to exceed $130,000,000.—Reuter.

NATIONAL ECONOMIC COUNCIL

Mr. T. V. Soong's Plans for Future

Nanking, Sept. 4.
One of the ambitious schemes Mr. T. V. Soong intends to put into practice on his return from abroad is the expansion of the functions of the National Economic Council so as to exercise effective control and coordination of economic developments of the country. This council has been, hitherto, more or less an advisory body without any administrative or executive rights.—Central News.

UNIFIED IRELAND

THE NEW PARTY'S PROGRAMME

RELATIONS WITH EMPIRE

Dublin, Sept. 3.

The policy of the new United Ireland Party, which it is assumed will result from a convention of all the Free State parties aligned in opposition to Mr. de Valera's Government, to be held on September 8, will be (according to the Centre Party) as follows:

The re-union of Ireland, as the most important constitutional issue;

The maintenance of Ireland's right to decide whether or not to remain a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations, and, subject to such right, to preserve Ireland's position in the Commonwealth in view of the economic advantages and the better prospects of unity arising therefrom;

To discredit the type of Republicanism which refuses to have a Republic because it desires to retain excuses for Jingoism;

To restore Irish prosperity by a settlement with Britain;

To promote agriculture as the main source of Irish prosperity;

To reduce public expenditure; To obliterate as speedily as possible all Civil War memories and to protect individual liberty.—Reuter.

XIXTH ARMY BRING UP REINFORCEMENTS

REDS RETREAT FROM YENPING

Two brigades of the XIXth Route Army have now arrived at Yenping and the situation is much easier.

It is now generally considered that the Communist menace to Foochow is entirely over.

Latest information suggests that Yenping did not actually fall into the hands of the Communists despite furious onslaughts. They delayed their attack too long and did not bring their full strength to bear until the Yenping garrison had been heavily reinforced.

ALARM IN FOOCHOW.

Some apprehension still exists among the Chinese in Foochow owing to the circulation of false reports regarding the state of affairs at Yenping. Wild rumours, probably started by Communists, have caused a near panic in some quarters, and the authorities have had to take action to prevent would-be refugees of the poorer classes from leaving the city.

The Provincial Government states that two Chinese gunboats are now on their way to Foochow.

FALLING BACK.

Foochow, Sept. 4.
It is officially claimed that those Reds who gained a strategic position in the Yenping district have now been beaten off, while Shun-Chung, to the north-west of Yenping, has been relieved from siege by the arrival of a strong detachment under General Mao Wei-shou. The "Red" invaders appear to have been falling back on Taining.—Central News.

MANCHUKUO CENSUS

OVER HALF MILLION JAPANESE

Tokyo, Sept. 3.
It has just been authoritatively announced that the first census taken by the Manchukuo government shows that in Manchuria there are now 29,006,000 residents including 16,332,000 males and 13,273,000 females and 560,000 Japanese residents, including the troops. The total Japanese population including those residing in Kwantung is estimated at about 838,000.

SUN FO LEAVES FOR KULING

ANOTHER PARLEY PLANNED

Nanking, Sept. 3.
Mr. Sun Fo, President of the Legislative Yuan, left Nanking for Kiangling by steamer to-day. He is on his way to Kulling, where a further conference between Chiang Kai-shek and Government leaders, including Mr. T. V. Soong, will take place in the course of the next few days.—Reuter.

YOUR CHILDREN

Keep Children Busy to Break Thumb-Sucking Habit

By Olive Roberta Barton

Billy was three and he sucked his thumb.

Jeanie, his sister, was six months old and she sucked her thumb. She didn't suck it all the time—just when she went to sleep. At other times she lay and cooed and played and never thought of her hand.

But her mother was terribly worried. She wasn't going to have another thumb-sucker in the family if she could help it.

When Billy was that age she had worked with him terribly hard to try to break the habit. She never could, however, and now
she was at her wits' end to know what to do.

From Bad to Worse

She bought some little bulb-shaped affairs to tie over Jeanie's hands so she could not get them to her mouth. Jeanie mouthed them and screamed and cried.

After a week of struggle her mother tied her arms down to her sides by wrapping a big towel about her body.

This was worse still. The baby, like all babies, was terrorized at restriction, and it seemed as though she just never would go to sleep.

Her mother did all the things
she had done with Billy at his age plus all the new things she heard about. She tried one after the other only to give them up because the baby needed sleep. The whole house needed it.

"Let her suck her thumb for awhile," she declared. "I'm tired struggling."

Some Helpful Advice

So Jeanie began all over again.
She would drop off happily to sleep with the tiny pink thumb in her mouth.

One day Mattie came in to wash and she asked to see the baby.

"The darlin'," she cooed, wiping her hands on her apron and bending low over the bassinet. "I wish mine was little again. They looked like that. A suckin' their thumbs so sweet."

"What did you do to cure it?"

"Cure it?" Mattie stared. "Why nothin' at all. They cured their selves when they could walk."

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Skin Lotion Brings "Fruitful" Results

By Alicia Hart

The summer crop of beauty aids are in full bloom.

Eyebrow pencils and mascara come in sets for your purses these days. You don't have to wonder if your eyes are going to stay made up all evening, nor do you need to tote along cumbersome boxes and pencil which don't quite fit into an evening purse.

The finishing cream which you use on your hands comes in smart little containers. You can carry them on the beach. For travelling, they are invaluable. It's a mistake to neglect using a lotion on your hands just because it's too much trouble to take along a big lotion bottle. Salt water at the beach is not very good for your hands. You need hand lotions for holidays even more than you do at home.

If you're the kind of a person who is always dashing home from business just in time to make a dinner date, you'll need some kind of a skin freshener which takes little time to use. There is a heavy cream which contains fruit juices. It takes only about five minutes for it to dry. Then you wash it off. And, I might add, all the dust and grime in your pores
wash away with it.

For hands that perspire, ruining your gloves and causing you no end of embarrassment, there are liquids which tend to check the perspiration. Keep one bottle of it on your dressing table and carry one with you.

Anyway my kids was all too busy for thumb suckin'. Eight of 'em.

"Billy sucks his thumb."

"He wouldn't if there was eight kids. He just aint got nothin'.

"I've spent three years trying to break him."

"Gracious goodness! Is that
so. Mebbe if you stop worryin' he'll quit."

"I'm trying to shame him out of it."

Suggestion for Cure

"The lamb! Well, mebbe that makes him worse too. They do say the more you fuss and talk the worse they get. Say—Mattie had a thought. "Why don't you get him a dog, or some bunnies, or a lot of things to keep him awful busy? Just so busy he'll forget about his thumb. And get kids in to play all the time. Just so he won't have time to get his fingers up. And this here baby I wouldn't worry about. Honestly,
I think you're gonna have trouble with all his tyn' business. I think it just sets 'em."

"I hope you're right, Mattie.
Maybe I will keep Billy busier."

A year later Mattie said one day, "Say, Mrs. Smith, remember when they sucked their thumbs?"

"Yes I do, Mattie. And you were their doctor?"

"Mebbe it don't always work," said Mattie, "but it just seemed to me like sense."

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was: "He hath showed thee, O man, what is good;
and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" (Micah 6:8).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "...And he preached in their synagogues throughout all Galilee, and cast out devils. And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeling down to him, and saying, unto him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus, moved with compassion, put forth his hand, and touched him and said unto him, I will; be thou clean. And as soon as he had spoken, immediately the leprosy departed from him, and he was cleansed." (Mark 1:39-42).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In divine Science, man is the true image of God. The divine nature was best expressed in Christ Jesus, who threw upon mortality the true reflection of God and lifted their lives higher than their poor thought-models would allow.
—Thoughts which presented men
as fallen, sick, sinning and dying."
(p. 259).

SALESMAN SAM

Sam Falls Hard!

By Smill

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLY HARNED, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, married DICK HADEL, a construction superintendent. They keep their marriage secret. Dick opposed Eve's continued employment but she is determined to go on working.

On her wedding night Eve is sent to New York to meet FREDA CAITZ, dress buyer. There Eve meets THELON REECE, who is much attracted by her. She visits IRENE PHILLIPS, former schoolmate, who is playing the stock market.

A week later Eve returns to Lake City to find a new copy writer, MONA ALLEN, at the office. Mona is a trouble-maker.

Eve and Dick take an apartment in an old-fashioned house. Dick is absent from home frequently in the evening and Eve is worried because he does not explain these absences.

CHAPTER XII

It was Thursday, two weeks before Christmas. As he sat down at the breakfast table Dick asked, "Eve, do you think you could get away from the office Saturday morning? I'd like to make a little trip."

"Oh, I'd love it!" she said. "But how could I get away so near to Christmas? Think of all the evenings lately I've had to bring work home from the store."

"All right, remind your chief of that! You aren't paid for overtime. What's fair one way is fair another. I've outlined a little trip."

He produced a road map and with a pencil indicated the route.

"We'll go down state through some towns you've never seen. The scenery is especially attractive along the river. See, we'll cut off here into the hills—"

"Oh, Dick, it would be such fun!" Eve responded. "I'll see what I can do about getting off."

"I'd like to leave at 10 o'clock Saturday morning," Dick reminded her as he left the house.

But Saturday Eve had to attend to several tasks at the office. Dick drove her down town and left her while he went to his own job to make sure everything was satisfactory before leaving town. At 10 o'clock he drove up to the side entrance at Bixby's. At a quarter of 11 a flushed and nervous Eve emerged from the revolving doors and took her place at his side.

"Dick, I was so upset at keeping you waiting," she began, breathlessly. "Barnes was decent about letting me go. I had it all arranged, you know. Then—of all things!—Mr. Bixby called us all to his office. He bawled us out terribly for that mistake in Friday night's ad. Of course it was Monna Allen's fault but a lot of good it would do to tell Mr. Bixby that! It's results that count. And the store will have to take a big loss. You should see the mob of customers in that department this morning. Barnes and I both feel sick over it. I'm trembling so inside I can scarcely breathe."

"And yet you're determined to go on!" Dick said. "I won't tell you when to quit. It's up to you. But I want to remind you that no job is worth as much as your health. I don't care about how sick Barnes is; I've worries on my own job. But I'm not going to stand by without protesting while my wife becomes a nervous wreck!"

"Well, anyway I shouldn't have left when I did this morning," Eve went on. "Suppose Mr. Bixby sends for me again during the day and Barnes has to tell him I've gone to spend the week-end in the country?"

"He'll probably ask for your resignation," Dick replied cheerfully.

They rode in silence out Broadway and then turned south. Eve shuddered as they passed the gray stone walls of the state hospital. Many an inmate there, she knew, might have been saved if he had stopped the nervous strain in time. Chan often told her she did not relax enough.

She glanced at Dick's handsome profile. He looked strong, purposeful, and yet so calm.

"Dick, you never worry about your work, do you?" she began.

"Wouldn't say that," he answered.

swore. "Every job has its disagreeable side."

"But I never hear you rave and rant when you get home nights. My father used to relive the entire working day at the dinner table! If anyone upset a cog of the machinery that day we'd have to listen all through the meal until he finished telling his side of it and what he'd like to do to certain people! Sometimes he used rather violent language, too," Eve said.

"People do that and then wonder why they have nervous indigestion," Dick smiled. "You can't make things any better by harping on them 24 hours of a day. Makes them worse instead!"

"Well," Eve went on, "when I was still at home I decided that if I ever had a family of my own we'd talk about what's going on in the world at meal time. A child alone isn't apt to take much interest in world news but if there is a round-table discussion with both mother and father giving their opinions and interpretation of important things that are happening the whole family is bound to get more out of life."

"Yes, most kids are bright enough," Dick agreed as they rode through an outlying factory district. "It's a cinch that if you give them a little help it's easier for them to get their bearings when they get out in the world."

"When I was a boy down on the farm," he continued, "we didn't have much money for foolishness. After chores were done we always had time for play but there was never any money spent on that play. Money was too scarce! In spite of that there never was a year when my father didn't have the price to subscribe to two daily newspapers. And, hard as he worked, Dad was never too tired to talk over the main part of the day's news with the family. When I came into the city I got plenty of razzing for being a 'green country boy' but I wasn't really as green as they thought." And Dick grinned.

"Your father was awfully strict with you, wasn't he?" Eve asked. Dick so rarely talked about himself that she was interested.

"Well, Dad was a smart man," laughed Dick, "and he never took orders from anyone under the age of 10."

Eve settled down and pulled the laprobe more firmly about her.

"Warm enough, sweetheart?" Dick asked.

She assured him that she was. They had left the city far behind now and were riding over flat farm country—hard, brown and barren looking in the December cold. There was little life to be seen around the houses.

"Pity the people who have to live in this neighbourhood," Eve said. "They miss so much!"

"Well, don't pity them," Dick told her. "Pity the children who grow up without knowing the woods or a country swimming hole or owning a flock of pets ranging from a baby calf down to a litter of live Easter bunnies. There are actually kids who never have seen an arctic nest except in a picture in a book. There are lots of them who never have the chance to roam over hills and along creeks exploring. They are the ones to be sorry for!"

They stopped for luncheon in one of the pottery manufacturing towns. Eve enjoyed watching the ceramic workers file in for their noon day meal. She had always felt a certain compassion for girls who worked in factories. She saw now that, instead of appearing unhappy, these girls and young men represented a group busy with their own interests. They were having a good time and Eve was amazed to see also that many of the girls' costumes bore the earmarks of the latest fashions. She

TRADE ENQUIRIES.

OVERSEAS BUYERS INCREASE IN NUMBERS

London, Sept. 2. During the last two months the London Chamber of Commerce has received a steadily increasing number of trade inquiries, mostly from overseas.

These have been 30 per cent. higher than in the corresponding period last year.

Inquiries, a high proportion of which have resulted in orders, have come from most countries in Europe and also from the United States. They cover a wide range of goods.—British Wireless.

made a mental note to keep them in mind in the future when she was writing advertising copy. It would help her create a more universal interest in Bixby's advertising.

"Dick, I'm getting a lot out of this trip!" she said enthusiastically.

"Sure. Does you good to get away from the smoke of your own chimney," he commented.

The ground rolled gently in an easterly direction until they neared the river where they found the hills steep with a trace of snow left from a recent storm. They passed miners' huts and tenements. Eve was shocked by the stark poverty of those ugly dwellings. The sight brought from Dick a lengthy discourse on the subject of injustice.

They turned inland at sunset and just as twilight fell Dick drove over the brow of a hill. A heterogeneous array of roofs lay before them. It seemed to Eve as though the roofs lifted and suddenly, with Jack-in-a-box quickness, Lumberville peeped out at them—dingy, desolate looking. Eve noted with contempt the many old buildings with false fronts to make them look a storey higher. Heavens, had they come all this way just to visit an uninteresting place like this? What possible interest did Dick think she might have here? Eve was furious.

SOONG'S TRAVELS

BOUND FOR KULING FOR CONFERENCE

Nanking, Sept. 3. Mr. T. V. Soong, Minister of Finance, accompanied by his two vice-ministers, Chow Lin and Li Tiao-sen, and the Chairman of the National Economic Commission, Chen Fon, left for Kuling to-day. Their first stop will be Kuliang.

Thereafter the party will board a Chinese cruiser, the Chungshan, and proceed to their destination.

Mr. Wang Ching-wei is following shortly, probably after the Executive Yuan's meeting Tuesday morning.

Prior to his departure, Mr. Soong told pressmen that the Kuling discussions would occupy from five to seven days.

He denied the necessity of calling a national financial conference.—Reuter.

MINISTER GREETED.

Big Reception Given By Nanking Officials.

Nanking, Sept. 3. Public and Government organisations held a meeting at the headquarters of the Overseas Association this morning, a welcome being given to Mr. T. V. Soong, who was greeted with great enthusiasm.

Mr. Lai Chen, of the City Kuomintang, who presided, referred to the successful part played by Mr. Soong at the conclusion of the Nine-Power Silver Agreement, the acquisition of technical co-operation with the League, and the wheat and cotton loan from America. He urged the public to support the Finance Minister's scheme of rural economic rehabilitation.

Mr. Soong thanked the audience for the enthusiastic reception given him and then reviewed his travels abroad. He stated he was deeply impressed by the political and economic changes in various countries during the past twenty years.—Reuter.

Tie-Ideas.

Ideas about ties vary, but opinion is almost unanimous concerning the most pleasant place to choose the sort of ties men like to wear. For, as the accepted headquarters for good ties, Mackintosh's introduce new patterns practically every week . . . exclusive patterns expressing the latest ideas that are current in the West End of London . . . with the number of ties in each pattern deliberately restricted.

RAILWAY TROUBLE

MANCHUKUO ANNULS TWO SOVIET AGREEMENTS

Moscow, Sept. 3.
According to the Tass Agency, the South Manchurian Railway has annulled two agreements with the Soviet-controlled railways.
The first concerns excess payments for through freight on the Chinese Eastern Railway. This is calculated to make the C.E.R. unprofitable to the Soviet, in order that they will sell it to Manchukuo at a lower price.

The second agreement reported to have been annulled is the 1928 agreement with the Ussuri Railway regarding the division of Manchurian freights.
Any losses from this will be charged to the South Manchuria Railway.—Router.

AIR DISASTER

FAMOUS ITALIAN ACE BURNED TO DEATH

New York Sept. 2.
Marquis De Pinedo, the Italian air ace, was killed to-day, in taking off for Baghdad on an attempt to beat the long distance flight record at present held by the French flyers, Codos and Rossi.

Marquis de Pinedo prepared for the flight with the utmost secrecy and thoroughness. He supervised the construction of the special Bellanca plane, carrying 1,000 gallons of petrol with an estimated range of 7,500 miles.

The plane was fitted with a robot pilot and also an ingenious sensitised altimeter to squirt cold water on the face of the pilot at a low altitude and awake him if he was dozing.

The Marquis taxied 2,000 feet, along the runway, and was gathering speed when the plane skidded into the rough. He endeavoured to bring the plane back to the runway, but crashed into a fence alongside the Administration Building.

The plane burst into flame and the Marquis's screams were heard as he tried to jump out of the cockpit. The machine immediately became a blazing inferno and there was no chance to effect a rescue.

The body, unrecognisably burned, was found beside the wreckage. —Reuter.

MM. Codos and Rossi captured the long-distance flight record from Britain, on August 7, when they landed at Rayak, Syria, after flying 5,657 miles from New York in 55 hours 50 minutes. The machine they piloted had a 600 h.p. engine and a speed of 150 m.p.h.

Official Biography.

The official biography of Francesco de Pinedo, as given out by the Italian Ministry of Aeronautics is as follows:

Born in Naples, February 16, 1890. Entered Naval Academy, 1908.

Became cadet, 1911, embarking on Flagship Vittorio Emanuele. On the outbreak of the war with Turkey distinguished himself at the capture of the Giuliana.

At the outbreak of the Great War he was lieutenant, and later was given command of a vessel used in the transport of the Serbian Army.

In July, 1917, he entered an aviation corps obtaining his certificate as military pilot in less than two months.

He distinguished himself at Brindisi for his zeal and his organizing ability, and in 1918 was appointed Commander of the Tyrrhaean Aviation Base.

In 1921 he was sent to Constantinople in command of the royal yacht for the use of the Italian Ambassador. In 1922 he returned to Italy and resumed command of the Tyrrhaean Aviation base. In 1923 he was transferred to the General-Direction of Aviation. In March, 1924, he was chosen Lieutenant-Colonel, not by seniority and entrusted with the office of Chief of the General Staff of the General Command of Aviation.

Three centuries of fighting ancestors lie behind the daring spirit of Marquis de Pinedo, the intrepid Italian flier who is known as "Franz" to his intimate friends.

Since the family was founded in Spain during the reign of Charles III by Giovanni Antonio de Pinedo, a captain of dragoons in the Bourbon army, every generation had had its warrior.

Fighting Record.

For six years he had a distinguished record as a naval officer in the war against Turkey for the conquest of Tripoli and in the World War, when he took a prominent part in the rescue of the Serbian army and its transport from the Austrians.

On entering the royal military aviation corps in July, 1917, his first important exploits were the flights from Sesto Calende, near Milan, to Rotterdam, and the return to Rome, and from Brindisi to Constantinople. These took minor rank, however, when in 1925 he flew from Sesto Calende to Melbourne, Tokyo and Rome, covering 34,975 miles in 370 hours of actual flying time. During this flight he called at Hongkong.

King Victor rewarded him after the flight with the Knighthood of the Military Order of Savoy, the

GERMAN ATTITUDE

DISARMAMENT PROPOSALS NOT FAVOURED

Berlin, Sept. 3.
With Mr. Norman Davis, America's roving ambassador, approaching Europe, and Geneva resuming activities at the end of the month, it is officially indicated that Germany is ready to accept the control-of-arms agreement, provided it is applied equally to all nations.

It is emphatically declared that Germany will flatly reject any control imposed as an additional burden to the Versailles Treaty.

The declaration is particularly aimed at France's proposal for a four year probationary period.

What is described as a determination of the United States, France and Great Britain to strengthen their navies is hailed as proof that they have no further confidence in the Disarmament Conference. —Reuter.

NAZI MAN-POWER.

Hitler Reviews Storm Troops.

Nuremberg, Sept. 3.
An impressive display of the man-power behind Chancellor Hitler was seen here to-day when the Nazi chieftain reviewed 110,000 of the Storm-troopers in the old market place of Nuremberg, which was renamed Adolph Hitler Square.

The march-past took over three hours.

Hitler addressing the troops said the world must not see in the spectacle an expression of desire to gain new honours on the battlefield. It was nothing, he declared, but a solemn acknowledgment of German unity.

Hofer At Congress.

Herr Hofer, the Austrian Nazi, who was released from prison by men disguised as members of the Austrian Heimwehr, but who in reality were Nazi comrades, has arrived at the Nazi Party congress here.

Herr Hofer is a hero among the delegates assembled. He was wounded in the leg when escaping across the Italian border, following his delivery from prison, and walks with a slight limp. —Reuter.

ANOTHER PLOT.

Nazis Seize "Reds" With Typhus Germs.

Nuremberg, Sept. 2.
The German authorities here claim the discovery, during a recent raid on Communist houses, of enough typhus bacilli to cause terrible havoc amongst the populace, which has been more than doubled by participants in the Nazi Congress. —Reuter.

highest peace time military decoration. De Pinedo also has numerous other decorations, among which he prizes most highly five medals "for valour" conferred upon him in the wars against Turkey and Austria and three Croix de Guerre (military crosses), the Italian French and English.

Long Distance Attempt.

In January this year, de Pinedo went to the United States with an idea for an aerial tramp freight service around the world in the Southern Hemisphere. He secured his ill-fated Wasp-powered Bellanca in May, and announced that single handed, he would fly from New York to "some point in Asia." Shrewdly, he timed his flight to steal some of the thunder of his successor and the man responsible for his exile, General Balbo.

In the cockpit of the Bellanca, which he named "Saint Lucin," he rigged an overhead water tank, a siren and a time clock. When he felt drowsy, he would set his controls, set the clock for ten minutes and doze off. At ten minutes the siren would howl, the tank would squirt water into his face, and awaken him.

Siren and water spout were adjusted to shriek and squirt if the plane veered from her course or dropped from its altitude.

For weeks before the flight he broke every night's sleep into 15-minute intervals, steeling himself for competition against Time.

And now it is all over.

TEXT OF NOTES

BETWEEN BRITAIN AND AUSTRIA

London, Sept. 2.
The Foreign Office to-day issued the text of Notes exchanged between the Austrian and British Governments concerning the special auxiliary force of 8,000 men, which Austria is raising for a period of one year.

The Notes are identical with Notes exchanged between Austria and the Italian and French Governments.

The Austrian Note, dated August 10, states that the present situation in Austria, both internal and external, calls for special measures of control with a view to the maintenance of order and public security. It also calls for measures for the immediate suppression of any act of terrorism which may be committed either within the country or on its frontiers by terrorist elements, whether these are present in the country, or coming from without.

Continuing, the Note states that the present effective strength of the special branches of the executive gendarmerie and police, which are called upon to maintain order and public security, is insufficient to discharge all duties incumbent upon them through the special circumstances which characterise the present Austrian situation.

The Note outlines the organisation of the proposed auxiliary military force, which has been drawn up after consultation with interested Governments, and asks the British Government to agree to the constitution and maintenance of the force.

British Reply.

The British reply, after noting the grave circumstances which have made the Austrian Government anxious temporarily to raise its effective Federal army from 22,000 men to 30,000 to bring it up to the limit imposed by the Treaty of St. Germain, states:

"Having regard in particular to the temporary and exceptional character of the military force now contemplated, and also to the fact that it will be recruited by means of voluntary enlistment and that the limits of effectiveness and of war material laid down by the Treaty of St. Germain will not be exceeded, His Majesty's Government will raise no objection to the establishment and maintenance of this auxiliary military force in accordance with the conditions set out in your note, so long as there continues to exist the special circumstances to which you refer, foremost among which you rank the terrorist campaign conducted against the present Government of Austria, and the defensive measures adopted on the authority of the Chancellor, Dr. Dollfuss, against the elements of disorder now in question." —British Wire-

INFLATION IN AMERICA

The latest news from the Recovery Front in the United States seems to suggest that the Administration has now entered upon the most difficult phase of the campaign. All the weak points of resistance have been pierced; the obstacles are becoming steadily stiffer, as exhibited in the attitude of Mr. Henry Ford, who is typical of many important individualistic interests. Labour trouble are adding to the difficulties of President Roosevelt and General Hugh Johnson, while doubts are now arising concerning the efficacy of the codes in achieving further absorption of the unemployed. Altogether, the outlook cannot be regarded as bright; the pace of recovery is slowing up; commodity prices are erratic. In these circumstances strong pressure will, it is certain be brought upon President Roosevelt to embark upon a policy of further active expansion of credit, of using the inflationary powers granted to him by Congress. The recovery impetus will wear itself out unless inflationary action is taken. This view is strongly held by the Royal Bank of Canada, which points out that the true value of the U.S. dollar is much greater than is indicated by recent quotations in France. As yet there has been but little positive inflationary action in the United States and the decline in the value of the dollar is largely in speculative anticipation of future action. The dollar has been sold short. Since even the present balance of trade is favourable to the United States, a slight reversal in speculative sentiment could easily drive the dollar much nearer to parity with gold. Carried far, an upward movement of the dollar would be likely to weaken confidence in recovery. The position of the United States is such that positive steps toward expansion of credit are still necessary if the strength of the upward trend is to be maintained, yet this statement does not imply that active steps toward expansion are not contemplated. It is anticipated that the government programme of expenditure on public works, on reforestation, and the assistance to the programmes of the individual States will be well under way by October. These government expenditures should provide stimulus at the time when the normal autumn upturn shall be carrying business activity to better levels. The need for credit for this autumn expansion, together with the necessity for credit to finance the government projects, might be expected to tighten

NOTES OF THE DAY

MR. HENDERSON

Mr. Arthur Henderson secured an easy victory in the Clay Cross bye-election; it was a safe seat. The interest is less in the result than in the fact that Mr. Henderson will return to the House of Commons after an absence of two years during which the prestige of the Labour Party has been steadily falling. It is just as well that a check should be put upon the irresponsibilities of over-zealous of the Sir Stafford Cripps type.

AND DISARMAMENT

The Times and other Journals have asked how Mr. Henderson will combine his new tasks with those which he has already undertaken as President of the Disarmament Conference. But why should there be any difficulty? The Disarmament Conference will not go on for ever; and, above all, the phase in which responsibility for its continuance has been thrown on its President's shoulders, cannot last very long. Mr. Henderson has made his tour of the European Foreign Offices, and the Bureau is reassembling next week. The Conference itself resumes in October. Parliament does not meet again till November; and the interval (which will include the meetings of the Council and Assembly of the League of Nations) should see Mr. Henderson's conciliation efforts ended, one way or the other.

POLITICAL SCANDAL

Whether true or not, the allegations made by Commander Kenworthy in raking up the history of events in 1931 are certainly not calculated to improve the public estimation of the Labour Party. Viscount Snowden has vigorously denied the accusations against himself, throwing back a counter-charge which again may or may not be true, but can only have the effect of showing this much: no matter who were the black sheep, there was "dirty work at the cross-roads" somewhere. What useful purpose can be served by the tactics of either is past comprehension.

"BRITISH WEEK"

"British Week" in Finland, which commences to-day—is the direct outcome of the new policy of reciprocal trade agreements which Mr. Runciman has been steadily pursuing. At the moment, we sell Finland goods to a value one-fifth of that of our imports, a disparity which is decidedly inconsistent with the policy. The Finns fully realise that they must alter it, if they are to retain their valuable exports to us. And it is quite possible for them to do so if they substitute goods bought from Great Britain for goods bought from countries which give them far less custom. Hence the "British Week." Not only in the capital, but all over the country, some thousands of retail shops are displaying British goods. Prizes will be awarded for the best displays. The towns are flagged and illuminated; the Admiralty have sent a cruiser and the War Office a military band; a team of athletes has gone from the A.A.A. a team of folk-dancers under the auspices of the E.F.D.S.; there will be British tennis players and some British films. With the facts of world trade as they are, and the failure of the W.E.C. this seems to be an inevitable development in international trade relationship.

money, but if there is close co-ordination between plans for financing and the expansion projects themselves, this increased demand for credit can be met without advancing rates. It is the degree of co-ordination exhibited which will reveal to the outside world the capacity of the United States to maintain the pace of recovery. Adequate handling of this situation will also give a basis for hope that the government will be able to maintain stability of a dollar regulated in relation to price level rather than in relation to gold. Any undue tightening of money rates, however, at a time when the government is seeking to encourage expansion, bodes ill for that type of co-ordination which is necessary in order that the stability of the dollar shall be permanently maintained. It would represent either lack of understanding or lack of co-operation.

IS SPORT OVERDONE?

By "SENTINEL"

THERE are two main springs which keep this crowded nation on the move—the necessity of work and the necessity of sport. These avocations are, so to speak, the bread and cake of our existence; many thousands get through the plain fare of the week with their thoughts fixed on the treat coming at the week-end. Except under pressure of sports and games, which demand ample and regular interludes, the English might never have invented the week-end, and the world would have one reason less to be grateful to the Island genius. As it is, the trains which carry exhausted citizens home on Friday night are packed next day with a populace in blither mood, travelling in droves to watch or renew their favourite recreation. The Greek peoples would suspend even warfare and flock amicably to the Olympic Games, but the compulsion came only once every four years. We observe a truce once every six weeks. It is, when one contemplates the matter, a terrific phenomenon, this hurly-burly and motion, the community undergoes, at set intervals all the year round, in subservience to sport. The London Passenger Transport Board would soon be in a poor way without the receipts of Saturday to Monday.

THE ancients used to subdivide the passions neatly and allot them to their proper "seats"; but they scarcely gave prominence enough to Competition, which lodges next the heart, and never (it is to be hoped) near the spleen. This partisan spirit and rivalry, which to-day blossoms mightily in sport, ought not to be called the master passion. If it cannot move mountains, it summons mountainous crowds; it stimulates a large share of human conduct, and manifests itself as soon as the individual walks—certainly as soon as he can run. The English have been persistently bitten with a desire to test strength and skill against each other and against all comers—a trait which has served the race well, and which in later years has given the term "sportsman" volumes of special meaning.

IF the great who have occasionally tried to put sport down had meditated its hold from antiquity, they might have saved their minds successful ordinances. Most minds turn back to the Greek and Roman amphitheatres as the cradles of public contest, but the athletes of Ireland, Egypt and other lands were training to win centuries beforehand. Who so excels has never lacked rewards and honour, and we are told that victors in the Olympic Games obtained a sort of annuity from their cities. But did the Greeks (who loved proportion), spend interminable hours debating sport, thinking and looking at sport, as do the British? They would have shied from such puerility. We may be sure that less was gleamed of the home-life of a winner of chariot races than is known of the winner of the women's singles. Betwixt festivals, the ancient public turned to weightier topics, those matters of moment and destiny to which we spare a little side-attention in between the week-end trances.

THE puritans well-nigh sniffed sport out of England, but even the insipidated gloom of those cadaverous gangsters could not extinguish an instinct. Sport not games crept back, taking one popular form or another, until the astonishing athletic revival in the middle of last century—a revival which in a generation or two has threatened to transform the play in life into its business, and to intensify recreation into pre-occupation. The years between the Fifties and the Seventies differentiated and settled our winter games. Rugby and Association Football; it was a period of expansion in sport that matched expansion in trade. The only opportunity our forefathers missed was tennis, an oversight generously repaired since the War. The rest has been taken over and elaborately developed, so that today sport prospers and pays dividends though half the spectators are on the dole and the rest of our industries trail through the bankruptcy court. Who cares if there is not enough cash for a couple of light cruisers if stakes can still be found for a couple of heavy-weights?

THE defenders of the present-day craze for competitive games assert that they foster "the spirit of team-work," and have made England a fitter nation. The first claim is merely a cant phrase; the "spirit of team-work" lasts precisely so long as a team is in action, but is not carried off the field. On Monday the best of forwards does not hopefully run his department like a scrum, nor does an oarsman vaguely conceive his office to be a boat which the manager is stroking. At work another set of loyalties comes into play, and will be exhibited by men who have never touched a ball down or slogged a full toss to the boundary. The "team-work" argument is used by devotees to make a case for something vastly overdone.

THE contention that games have improved physique and health is valid for all who play; but what of the spectators—the majority in the universal army of sportsmen? No one yet benefited his health by standing in November drizzle to see (for example) a London centre-forward (bought from Scotland) beat a goal-keeper whose transfer price was almost as much. A good deal of fun has been poked at the new legions of hikers (they will dress up so!), and it must be admitted that they practise neither a game nor a sport, but only a very pedestrian pastime. Yet the effort of a fifteen-mile tramp is more to be respected than any effort of contemplation; and though thousands go home, when their side has won, swelling with personal glory, the hiker has a better satisfaction when he takes off his boots.

LIMELIGHT and over-specialisation are the two spoilsports. Every game suffers from an absurd binging of the drum; international matches are acclaimed by many newspapers in type that leaves no margin for the last trump; significant and important news is banished if a fast bowler

The Very Idea!

SHAW THING

By Eddie Kelly, Shawt

NOT so Shaw!

There is no such thing as a Superman, said George Bernard Shaw, in a recent letter to a Shanghai newspaper.

Jealousy, pure jealousy. Does Mr. Shaw forget that he met us when he was in Hongkong?

Wait till he comes here on his next trip around the world. We hope the Editor will give us the task of interviewing him. Our interview would go something like this:

George Bernard Shaw arrived in Hongkong a few weeks ago, passing through the Colony without occasioning any comment. He travelled third class on a one-class tourist ship.

Mr. Shaw was wearing a suit of wide-checked plus-fours, horn-rimmed spectacles, and smelt strongly of hooch. These were the most marked influences of his visit to the U. S. last year.

Mr. Shaw also had on his famous false beard. When he was talking to the Telegraph representative, an albatross flew out of his whiskers. This startling incident Mr. Shaw absolutely disregarded.

He said he intended to stay in Hongkong for at most half an hour, and would write a book on the mut tsai problem, water shortage, coal dump scandals, cabaret evils, government surpluses, cathedral white ants, and other subjects upon his return to England.

Mr. Shaw was accompanied by Mrs. Shaw and the twins. Asked what he thought of the white ant menace in the Cathedral, Mr. Shaw advised church-goers to turn communists. "The ants will then be red," he said.

Questioned on the possibility of life in the Hereafter Mr. Shaw replied "Vote Wet." When corrected upon this issue, he said: "What you need is more Legislative Councillors and less newspapers."

Asked to give his impressions of Hongkong and the Peak, Mr. Shaw said he hadn't noticed it.

He said that he had received a wireless invitation to lunch with the Rotary Club. He would certainly complain to his friend Marconi about this.

Mr. Shaw said that the Jews in Germany were not really happy.

At this moment the albatross returned, carrying in its beak a large fish. It flew into his whiskers, and was lost to sight.

"Say, bo," Mr. Shaw exclaimed, "that boird is a great-family man."

ANOTHER PARTY

We have received the following communication from one of our pals, and how!

Dear Eddie—Good morning, or is it mourning? Yesterday I had a birthday? You might have heard the ships firing a salute. It was really for the Queen of Holland, but we share everything. This morning I am in possession (lot of a-s in that word!) of the following:

- 1/2 bot. Whiskey (good)
- 1 Hang Over (bad)
- 1 Invitation to Chinese dinner
- 2 Cables
- 1 ingrowing toenail
- 1 Ivory Ornament
- 1 Bot. Soda (warm)
- 1 Loving Disposition.

I also had a temperature, but the doctor took that. That's all there was left. Could you come over and see me? I am not so good. This morning I am not so good. With love and kisses, _____

The dirty crook. He lied to us. There was no whiskey there when we called.

pricks a finger; and the everlasting antics of young men in jerseys are a worse bore on the picture page than the everlasting bathing belles they applaud. No frippery, about anyone "who made the winning hit" must be withheld from the idolising public. Sport has cheapened journalism, and journalism sport. And when M. Borotra protests that "sport is not an end in itself" and Mr. Austin ("Bunny" to the myriad) observes that sport is an "entirely wrong pedestal," these two favourites are suspected of seeking subtle advertisement.

WITH games so critically watched, over-specialisation has ensured naturally. No one far off perfect can risk the cascade of contempt that pours on inefficiency. The performer must dedicate himself solely to his pastime if he would be in the first flight.

WORTHY CHAMPIONS

It was this factor which the Telegraph forecast on Friday would be the chief influence in the match. The bowling Green skips received just that little better support than did Phillips, Grimmit and Deakin.

It was a great victory, thoroughly deserved. Civil Service have every cause to congratulate themselves on their magnificent end of the season recovery, but on the day's play nobody could begrudge the Bowling Green their success which were the fruits of a splendid revival.

INDIAN TERRORISTS.

ASSASSINATE A BRITISH DISTRICT MAGISTRATE

Calcutta, Aug. 2. The District Magistrate at Madnapore, Mr. Burge, was assassinated to-day.—Reuter.

Calcutta, Aug. 3. Mr. Burge, who is the third successive District Magistrate at Madnapore to be assassinated, was fired on by a party of three local Bengalees as he was stepping from his car to play at a football match. He was killed instantly.

One of the assailants was killed, another seriously injured, and the third was arrested.—Reuter.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF.

HUMILITY, LIKE DARKNESS, REVEALS THE HEAVENLY LIGHTS.—Thorau.

The Offices and residence of the Consulates for Nicaragua, Mexico and San Salvador have been transferred from No. 11 Lock Road, Kowloon, to No. 295 Prince Edward Road, Kowloon, Hongkong.

Running out from behind a tram-car in Des Voeux Road Central, a Chinese youth, Leung Kwai-fuk, 15, was knocked down by another oncoming tram and sustained head injuries. He was sent to the Government Civil Hospital.

Last Night's Swimming Galas

CHUNG SING AND C.A.A.

Two of the leading Chinese bathing clubs, the Chung Sing in West Point and Chinese Athletic Association held their gala last evening. Both events were witnessed by hundreds of spectators.

At the conclusion of the Chinese Athletic Association meeting General Chang Wei-chung, former commander of the Nationalist Force in Nanking, distributed the prizes to the successful candidates. He was introduced to the members by the Chairman, Mr. Chan Lim-pak.

The results of the Chinese Athletic Association's gala are as follows:

50 metres free style (men) open.—1. Lau Po-hay; 2. J. Smith; 3. A. Rosa. Time 30-1/4 seconds.

50 metres free style (ladies) open.—1. Mrs. Mc. Mahon; 2. Miss Lau Kwai-chen; 3. Miss Doris Hunt. Time 38 3/5 seconds.

BRITAIN PARCHED

SERIOUS MENACE TO WATER SUPPLY

London, Sept. 3.

The promised end of the prolonged drought, by slight showers yesterday, was not fulfilled and a serious menace of a water shortage now exists throughout the country. The whole of England is parched and dry, and green grass is scarcely existent.

If widespread relief, through rains, does not come soon experts are of the opinion that crops and pasture will be gravely affected. The exceptional dryness also holds up ploughing.

A typical instance of the difficulty facing the country exists at Macclesfield, Cheshire. With scarcely a week's water supply, the territory here is threatened with one of the most severe water famines in its history.

Water queues in several midland counties are a daily sight and photographs of large town reservoirs show an alarming shrinkage.—Reuter.

OBITUARY

PORTUGUESE LADY'S DEATH AT KOLOON

The death occurred on Saturday at her residence at Kowloon after a long and trying illness, of Mrs. Laura Maria Botelho do Sousa, the wife of Mr. E. V. M. R. de Sousa, the well-known local auctioneer. She was 55 years of age at the time of her demise.

Deceased, who is a sister of Mr. P. V. Botelho, of Botelho Brothers, is survived by her husband, her mother, aged 78 years, six sons, Messrs. Eddie (who is married), Tony, Freddie, Louis, Joseph and Francis, and four daughters, Misses Lolita, Aurea, Hilda, and Emily. Deceased's husband is a former President of the Club de Recreio and of the Club Lusitano.

The funeral took place at the Roman Catholic Cemetery last evening, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The burial rites were conducted by the Rev. Father Rossi and the Rev. Father Noval.

The chief mourners were deceased's husband and sons. Among those present to pay their last respects at the graveside were Messrs. P. V. Botelho, A. A. R. Botelho, F. V. Botelho, A. M. R. Soares, Leo D'Almada e Castro, jr. (President of the Club de Recreio), F. X. D'Almada e Castro, sen., Chev. J. M. Alves, A. F. Silva, Netto, A. M. Alves, A. S. Gomes, A. A. Remedios, A. J. C. Rocha, J. J. Basto, Fred Xavier, L. E. Gutierrez, A. C. Botelho, J. G. Ozorio, F. M. P. Graca, F. L. Silva, P. A. Yvanovich, D. Lopes, E. Leitao, O. Barretto, F. Silva, A. E. S. Alves, F. P. de V. Barton and many others, including a large section of the members of the Club de Recreio.

A wealth of floral tributes was sent from members of the deceased's family, as well as from numerous members of the Portuguese community and business associates of Mr. de Sousa.

General Leygues
Paris, Sept. 2.

The death occurred to-day of General Leygues, French Minister of Marine.—Reuter.

Georges Jean Claude Leygues, the French Statesman, was a Gascon. He was born at Villeneuve-sur-Lot, in November, 1857. A lawyer by profession, he also wrote books and articles on art, literature, politics and travel.

In 1889 he was elected to the Chamber for his home Department, Lot-et-Garonne. A leading adherent of the Republican Left, he was a member of many Governments from 1894 onwards, holding the portfolios of Education, the Interior, the Colonies and the Navy.

It was in Clemenceau's wartime Cabinet that he was Minister of Marine. He told the story of the forces under his control in the book "Les Mers de France."

For a time Vice-President of the Chamber, he was chairman of the Foreign Affairs Commission from 1916 to 1924. It was under his Ministry that the reform of secondary education was brought about in 1902.

When, in September, 1920, Millerand became President of the Republic in succession to Deschanel, he selected Leygues to succeed him in the Premiership.

The Leygues government, however, made way on January 12, 1921, for a Briand Ministry. In March, 1924, Leygues entered the reconstructed Cabinet of Poincare as Minister of the Interior, but it only lasted until June. He then joined Briand as Minister of Marine in November 1925, and retained the post in all the governments that followed excepting Herriot's two-day Cabinet.

He received a legacy of 15 million francs from Chauchard, the founder of the Magasins du Louvre, whose friendship he had enjoyed for many years. Some people asserted that this bequest was a recognition of the Minister's services in securing decorations for Chauchard. In any case, Leygues was able to induce that self-willed millionaire to hand over his valuable art collection to the Louvre and thus to prevent its being taken out of the country by Americans.

WORTHY CHAMPIONS LEAGUE TENNIS DAVIS CUP TEAM

WELL DONE K.B.G.C. WIN THE BOWLS LEAGUE

BEAT C.S.C.C. IN DECIDING GAME SUPERIOR TEAM WORK

(By "Veritas")

A new chapter has been written in the annals of the Kowloon Bowling Green Club. It might suitably be entitled "From Wooden Spoonists to Champions". The final paragraph was written on the green of the Club de Recreio on Saturday, when, in a deciding match, the Bowling Green beat the Civil Service by 15 shots and thus became champions of the first division of the Lawn Bowls League.

It was a "happy ending" paragraph befitting the earlier phases which told of the almost dramatic rise of the club from the inglorious position held at the close of the 1932 season to the leadership of the 1933 league.

The victory was clean and decisive. The new champions carried the day on all three rinks and they merited it by their superior bowls. From the third head the Bowling Green Club obtained a grip on the game which they never relaxed until the end.

All the time the Civil Service were fighting hard. They lost gallantly. On several heads their No. 1 and 2 players held their own, but the sustained brilliancy of Hughie Nish, Adam Holland and Dave Gow proved too much for their opposites and time after time the Civil Service were robbed of winning heads by the skill of these skips.

GREEN PECULIARITY.

The green was naturally fast, but this did not trouble the players to the same extent as the peculiar way it "took" the woods. The difficulty was most pronounced on the long heads, where the players, taking the normal green saw to their consternation the woods holding up until near the jack and then taking a violent bias.

Drake, the No. 3 on Nish's rink was worried by this all the afternoon, and although the disadvantage was reduced as often as possible by taking fairly short heads, it was an over-present pitfall.

SKILFUL BOWLING.

But in spite of this peculiarity of the green, some skilful bowling was enjoyed by a large crowd.

Some of the keenest play of the afternoon was seen on the No. 2 rink, where D. Gow and his colleagues fought out 21 heads with J. W. Deakin and Co., which ended in a five shots margin in favour of the Bowling Green four.

But this lead was long delayed and until the 17th head it was anybody's game. Gow bowled extremely well throughout, and invariably had a wood good enough either to take shot or to draw second wood to rob the Civil Service of a three or four head.

Perhaps the least expected defeat was that of A. W. Grimmit's rink. They finished eight shots down and at no time did they appear likely to rob the Bowling Green four of the lead secured on the early heads.

Holland and Grimmit had several keen contests, but the superior play of Duncan, Petherick and Macfarlane over Armstrong, Simmons and Hollidge was the big factor.

NISH IN FORM.

Hughie Nish was in the best form. His rink started disastrously, losing five on the first two heads.

After this there was an appreciable improvement in the delivery of Hall and Macintyre. Hall bowled especially well once he had accustomed himself to the green.

McGowan was the most consistent Civil Service bowler on this rink and several times he earned applause for some excellent shot woods.

But his good work was persistently upset by Nish, who laid with extraordinary accuracy, and more than once carried the jack through to the well placed Bowling Green black woods to convert an adverse single into a two and three shots for the champions.

WHY K.B.G.C. WON.

The Bowling Green owed their success to superior team work. (Continued on Page 7.)

Time Limit Prevents Decision

BASEBALL GAMES STOPPED

New York, Sept. 3.

The time-limit placed on all Sunday games prevented the double header encounter between New York Giants and Boston reaching a definite conclusion to-day.

The Giants were beaten in the first match, being nosed out, and the second was left drawn at four runs each in the ninth innings, time not permitting of any further play.

Darkness also stopped the St. Louis v Detroit encounter in the American League, with the teams sharing ten runs scored in nine innings.

Cleveland returned the biggest score of the day, when they hit up fourteen runs against Chicago. Scores as cable by Ruter were:

Boston	3	13	0
New York	4	10	1

(There were fourteen innings.)

Cincinnati	9	12	0
Pittsburgh	3	12	2

Chicago	1	8	0
St. Louis	3	7	0

Boston	4	14	3
New York	4	4	0

The Brooklyn v Philadelphia game was postponed on account of rain.

(The game ended at the ninth inning on account of darkness). The New York v Philadelphia match was postponed because of rain.

U.S. WOMEN'S GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Miss van Wie Defeats Miss Helen Hicks

New York, Sept. 2.

Miss Virginia van Wie, who defeated Miss Enid Wilson in the semi-final, retained the U.S. Women's Golf Championship to-day when she defeated Miss Helen Hicks at the Exmoor Country Club, Highland Park, Illinois, by four and three over 30 holes in the final.

There was a splendid tussle between the two finalists. The wind troubled both players at the start, but Miss Hicks seemed to feel it less. She led by two holes at the end of the morning round.

Miss Hicks continued to show good form and at one time led by four holes, achieved mainly through splendid drives and deadly iron shots.

Outplayed up to this stage, Miss van Wie staged a wonderful recovery. She rallied, and from then onwards there was only one player in the picture. Her putting was amazing, and once she dropped the ball from 15 yards, she could be said to have won her match through her marvellous putting.—Ruter.

ALMOST CHAMPIONS CRAIGENGOWER & LAWN BOWLS

SECOND DIVISION TITLE

Craigengower Cricket Club can be regarded as virtual champions of the second division of the Lawn Bowls League.

Saturday's results pretty well assured them of retaining the title they won last year. They themselves defeated the Indian Recreation Club by 49 shots, whilst the Civil Service, their only serious rivals, were beaten by the Kowloon Cricket Club.

This now leaves Craigengower at the head of the table with 22 points from 14 matches, Kowloon Bowling Green hold second place with 20 points from 15 matches and Civil Service come next with 18 points from 14 games.

But the position is still fraught with interest. Craigengower in their last two matches have to meet both the Bowling Green and Civil Service. They are away to the Kowloon team and may very well suffer defeat, but should be able to clinch the issue on their own green against Civil Service.

W. V. Field and his colleagues enjoyed a personal triumph on Saturday. Not only did they score an eight on one head, thus emulating the achievement of W. S. Drake's rink against the Police, but by beating Hyde's four by 37 shots, brought their record of shots for the season to a total of 135, which beats the existing record of 184 shots established by B. W. Bradbury's rink. As Field's rink have still to play two matches this season, they should be able to set up figures good enough to stand for many a long day.

EASY WIN FOR RECREIO

"A" DIV. SPOILS AT STAKE

The Club de Recreio jumped to fifth place in the league table of the "A" Division of the lawn tennis league on Friday when they visited the University at Pokfulam and won by six sets to three.

Both clubs have now played eight league matches and have only one outstanding before completing the season's programme.

H. A. Barros and A. V. Remedios enjoyed a successful afternoon by winning all three sets, and they turned the game in favour of the Portuguese. The remaining pairs could only score one and a half sets each.

FOOTBALL FACTS

154 GOALS SCORED ON SATURDAY

HOME TEAMS ON TOP

Those who pinned their faith in home teams in the English Football League on Saturday were not disappointed. Out of the forty four matches played, 29 saw home clubs win, whereas only three visitors enjoyed this distinction. There were a dozen drawn games.

On the previous Saturday, 26 home clubs won, eleven visiting teams were successful and there were seven drawn games.

The programme produced a total of 154 goals, 112 of which, were obtained by home teams. Together with the two Scottish Leagues, goalkeepers were beaten 225 times, home clubs claiming 156 of the goals.

Very few teams are now left with a 100 per cent record. Every club in the First Division of the English League has dropped one or more points. In the Second Division North End and Notts County have alone scored the maximum from games played, whilst similar records are enjoyed by Crystal Palace and Luton in the Southern Section of the Third Division and by Crave in the Northern Section.

Among the Scottish teams, only Motherwell and Queen's Park have unpolished league records.

The biggest aggregate of goals came from the Southern Section of the Third Division where the 22 clubs scored 45 between them, 36 of which went to home teams. The best score of the day was credited to Luton who netted ten times and the highest aggregate in one match to Luton and Torquay, who registered 12 goals.

In each of the four divisions of the English League, three drawn games were recorded.

MAY VISIT COLONY

JACK CRAWFORD AND CO.

POSSIBLE TOUR OF JAPAN

IN APRIL 1934

Although it is now definite that the Australian Davis Cup team will not visit Hongkong this year, there is a distinct possibility of the players being seen here next spring.

This welcome information is contained in a letter from Mr. Harley Malcolm, Hon. Secretary of the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia, to the Australian Association of Hongkong and South China.

The text of the letter is quoted below:

"I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated July 19th in reference to the movements of the Davis Cup team.

"There was a suggestion earlier in the season that the players should return via Japan to honour the return visit of the Japanese players to Australia last year, but in view of the length of the tour the Council has decided that this portion of the trip is to be abandoned.

NEXT APRIL?

"An effort will probably be made to send a team about April of next year provided it does not interfere with the Davis Cup tour, if we decide to enter for that competition.

"I thank you for the information regarding the number of our countrymen in Hongkong, and if a visit is made to Japan next year every effort will be made to include Hongkong in the itinerary. You will be duly advised of the position.

"I appreciate very much your kindly remarks about the team and their efforts in the Davis Cup of this year. They played well but were defeated by a better team, Great Britain.

"Your congratulations on his fine performance will be conveyed to Jack Crawford on his return from America about the middle of October.

Yours truly,
(signed) H. MALCOLM,
Hon. Secretary.

L. T. A. INVITATION.

It is understood that the Australian Lawn Tennis Association have not yet replied to an invitation extended to the Australian Davis Cup team by the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association, to play in Hongkong should the team return to Australia via this Port from their European and American tour.

AUSTRALIAN TEAM.

Davis Cup Players For Hongkong In April.

FAR EASTERN TOUR.

In a letter to the Australian Association of Hongkong and South China, Mr. Harley Malcolm, Hon. Secretary of the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia, has intimated that an Australian tennis team will probably visit Hongkong in April.

The suggestion that the Australian Davis Cup team, Messrs. Jack Crawford, Vivian McGrath, Turnbull and Quist, should visit the Far East on the return trip from Europe and the United States, has been abandoned.

The visit was proposed in order that the Australian authorities could reciprocate the visit of Japanese players to Australia last year.

Owing to the length of the Davis Cup tour, it has now been decided to postpone the visit to Japan until April.

The Australian players, who are at present in the United States, will return direct to Australia this month, arriving in Sydney in mid-October.

Mr. Malcolm has intimated that if the trip to Japan matches in April, every effort will be made to include Hongkong in the itinerary. It is practically certain that the Australian team will comprise the four players who reached the semi-finals in this year's Davis Cup.

Jack Crawford is the present holder of the Wimbledon and French Championships.

HARMSWORTH TROPHY.

Miss America Beats Miss Britain Easily.

GAR WOOD'S TRUMPH.

Algonack, Mich., Sept. 2. Gar Wood's "Miss America X" won the first of the three races for the Harmsworth Trophy, beating the British entry, Scott Paines "Miss Britain III" by three miles.

Just before the start of the race, a last minute entrant, Dodge's Delphos V caught fire and did not participate in the race. The pilot was unhurt.

Wood's average speed for the course of 35 nautical miles was 82.498 knots an hour and Paine's was 78.440.

The American led by three quarters of a mile at the end of the first lap, two miles at the end of the second, and two and a half at the end of the third.

The fourth lap was like a battle between David and Goliath, as "Miss America's" four Packard engine developed 7,000 h.p. compared to the 1,300 h.p. by the single Napier Schneider Trophy engine of "Miss Britain."

The second race will be decided on Monday, and the third, if necessary, on Tuesday.—Ruter.

THE THEATRES

Fingers Partos—ex-convict, ex-prize fighter and trainer—champion and saviour of one hundred and twenty million people!

That's the character around whom revolves the action of "The Billion Dollar Scandal," a well-knit, dramatic, timely melodrama which comes on Thursday to the Queen's Theatre. And Fingers Partos, as played by Robert Armstrong, is one of the most interesting characters that has come out of Hollywood in a long time.

The audience first meets Fingers in the penitentiary, where his fingers, marvellously adept in the art of massage, have won him a place as a trustee, and masser to the warden. When Fingers' pals, Ratsy (James Gleason) and the Kid (Warren Hymer) are released on parole, the warden goes to the mat for Fingers and obtains his parole as well.

Outside, the three ex-cons pick up some girls, including Anna (Olga Baclanova) who sticks with Fingers, and celebrate. Their celebration comes to an abrupt end with an automobile collision, in which Master-son (Frank Morgan), the wealthy occupant of the other car, is knocked unconscious. The clever fingers of Fingers Partos revive him, and the banker is so impressed that he hires Fingers as his personal masser, and organizes a gym class of his friends with Fingers as the instructor.

From the conversation of his gym pupils, Fingers pick up enough stock tips to make himself wealthy. But he also overhears the plotting of a nation-wide swindle of gigantic proportions. Master-son, however, does not realize that Fingers possesses this valuable information, and, when Fingers' brother and Master-son's daughter fall in love, the banker, enraged at the thought of an ex-convict's brother for a son-in-law, breaks Fingers and discharges him.

Fingers and his pals, therefore, open a small massage parlour and start all over again. A powerful newspaper editor, Griswold (Irving Pichel) tells Fingers the idea that, by exposing Master-son and his crowd, he can become the man of the hour, and the champion of 120,000,000. Fingers' principal motive in taking revenge on Master-son, but soon the idea of the "truth racket" takes hold of him, so thoroughly, that he goes through treachery, threats of death, and all manner of villainy, speaks the truth before a Senate investigation, and brings the whole band of millionaire crooks to justice.

Armstrong's performance in the role of Fingers is no less than brilliant. He has made the "truth racketeer" a thoroughly human, believable individual, and has contributed one of the best performances of the season.

"Dangerously Yours"

"This would be a better dressed world," says Miriam Jordan, if there were more and better vanity.

"Vanity, the kid I refer to," she goes on, "is the consciousness of one's good points which, after all, is the very beginning of sartorial wisdom."

She wears a dozen smart costumes in "Dangerously Yours," her latest picture coming on Thursday to the King's Theatre. Even a glance at her as she steps into a scene reveals the fact that she understands clothes and her own good points in wearing them.

"It is no longer the fashion to wear your skirts above your knees, or down to your ankles because skirts are so worn by the Queen of Timbuctoo," says Miss Jordan. "The real test of whether you are in fashion to-day is not the height of your waistline but how your clothes look on you!"

The gowns worn by Miss Jordan in "Dangerously Yours," in which she appears opposite Warner Baxter, were created under the supervision of Rita Kaufman, Fox stylist. Among them is a beautiful white crepe trimmed in navy blue crepe, a dinner gown, with a sailor-collared motif carried out effectively in the low-cut back. A wool lace dress, a black velvet and white satin combination frock, smart little pajamas and a red wood suit are other interesting modes worn by Miss Jordan.

"Made on Broadway"

Two of the most popular players in pictures are co-starred in "Made on Broadway," which opened yesterday at the Queen's Theatre as a filmization of the Courtenay Terrell story, "Public Relations," account of a metropolitan "wise guy." They are Robert Montgomery, affable expert at slip humour, and Sally Eilers, who sky-rocketed to stardom after her outstanding hit in "Bad Girl".

Montgomery, who was brought from the Broadway stage to play the

SHIP EXPLOSION

THREE BODIES OF VICTIMS RECOVERED

Tokyo, Sept. 2.

The body of Mr. M. O. Putt, chief officer of the British steamer Athol Queen, and one of the five victims of the explosion at sea, has been found and identified.

Two other bodies of foreigners, believed to be victims of the disaster, have been found off Chiba.

The Athol Queen, which was on route from Kobe to Manila when the disaster occurred, will be docked and repaired in Yokohama.

The explosion occurred while water was being poured into an empty tank for cleaning purposes. The five victims were all on deck, and were literally blown off the ship into the sea as the heavy metal deck was torn apart by the blast, leaving a gaping hole forty feet long.

The names of the victims are Mr. S. G. Knott, chief engineer, Mr. M. O. Putt, chief officer, Mr. A. M. Rae, apprentice, Mr. M. Johnson, ship's carpenter, and Mr. W. Read, deck hand.—Reuter.

BALLOON RECORD?

GERMAN ADVENTURERS
CLAIM CREDIT

Cologne, Sept. 3.

Three Essen balloonists have laid claim to the world's record for altitude flying in ordinary balloons. They declare they reached a height of over 36,000 feet, although this figure has not yet been officially confirmed.—Reuter.

part of an undergraduate in "So This is College," has since achieved a meteoric career in which he has played opposite such screen headliners as Greta Garbo, Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Tallulah Bankhead. In his newest picture he is said to have been given his greatest opportunity to put over the rapid-fire good humour which has endeared him to millions of moviegoers.

In "Made on Broadway," Montgomery has the role of a debonaire man-about-town who is actually the power behind the city's political scene. He prevents Miss Eilers from committing suicide as a result of poverty, and transforms her into a dazzling Broadway personality.

When an unanticipated murder takes place Montgomery is forced to strain his resources to the limit in order to save his "synthetic mistress" from the death penalty.

The attractive Madge Evans has an important role in the picture as Montgomery's ex-wife who, still loving him, tries to bring some reason and order into her husband's mad Manhattan existence. The amusing Eugene Pallette is seen as a confidential butler and C. Henry Gordon, who recently scored as the gangster in "Gabriel Over the White House," acts the town's mayor.

Rounding out the cast are Jean Parker, Iva Lebedeff, David Newell, Vince Barnett and Joseph Cawthorn.

"Made on Broadway" was directed by Harry Beaumont who has a long list of box-office hits to his credit, including "Unashamed," "Dance Fools Dance" and "Our Blushing Brides."

"Best of Enemies"

With Buddy Rogers and Marian Nixon in the leading roles, "Best of Enemies," the new Fox comedy romance, is showing to-day at the King's Theatre. It is a novel romance depicted against an up-to-the-minute background as has ever been seen.

The story traces the development of a youthful love through the vagaries of events surrounding two youths. Differences between their families are brought out, things over which they have no control, and barriers are set in their way. The central background being the passage and the return of beer, the situations accompanying the romance are highly amusing.

The story moves in locale from a city in the Middle West, inhabited by a great number of German-Americans who cannot give up habits of centuries, to Germany, itself, where the young man of the romantic pair goes to study. The film has a distinctive musical accompaniment directed by Arthur Lange and dance sequences arranged by Sammy Lee.

FORMER LEADER OF LABOUR PARTY WINS

London, Sept. 2.

Mr. Arthur Henderson, former Member of Parliament for Newcastle and Burnley and Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in the Labour Administration, has been elected M. P. for the Clay Cross Division.

Mr. Henderson defeated the Nationalist Candidate, Mr. Moore, by a huge majority, the final figures being:

Henderson (Lab.) ... 21,931
Moore (Nat.) ... 6,294
Pollitt (Comm.) ... 3,434

Mr. Henderson, who was the Parliamentary Labour Candidate, was leader of the Party when it was defeated at the General Election in 1931. Mr. Henderson was defeated at the poll.—Reuter.

The vacancy in the Clay Cross electorate was brought about through the death of Mr. C. Duncan, the Labour candidate, who, in the General Election, defeated Mr. J. Weinbers (Nat. Liberal) by 21,163 votes to 11,611.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

When your partner has made a negative double, endeavour to respond with a major suit because that is what he wants. I recommend that you respond with a four-card major suit in preference to a five-card minor.

East and West were using the Constructive One-over-One system with the Sims negative double.

While North and South were playing a system which provided for weak original no trump bids, I believe that six months from now no system will employ such tactics. No trump is the most difficult contract to make and therefore it should only be made on an especially fine hand—one well-balanced

 A-K-5 K-9-5 J-10-9-5 J-6-5 Q-9-4-2 Q-6-4 Q-6 A-10-9-8-3 J-6 K-7-3 K-Q-8-2 K-7-4-2 	 NORTH WEST DEALER SOUTH 	 10-8-7-3 A-J-10-2 A-7-4-3 A-Q

with plenty of high card tricks and rich in tenace positions. This, with the negative double, is another of the Sims theories.

The Bidding.

When the following hand was played, South and West passed, and North made a weak third hand original one no trump opening. To make a negative double you really should be in a position to handle any response that your partner may make. For example, in this case, if East doubles one no trump and his partner bids two clubs, which is he going to do? He could bid two hearts. While the suit is not any too strong, it is worth the risk to find out whether or not his partner holds four hearts or four spades.

After the double South will pass. West holds a five-card club and a four-card spade suit. He must bid the spade suit because his partner has asked him to bid a major if possible. North passed and East went to three spades. This is perhaps rather too optimistic on this type of hand. He should be satisfied to have found his partner with four spades. Remember that his partner has passed once.

After the bid of three spades, West cannot be blamed for going to four spades as he has a five-card suit and a singleton while his partner shows real strength.

Fortunately for West, four spades can be made. Even if North opens the ace, king and one spade the declarer will still make his contract.

PORTUGUESE LADY ATTACKED.

TERRIFYING ORDEAL AT LAICHKOK BEACH

A most unpleasant experience befel Miss S. da Cruz, on Saturday afternoon, when a Chinese, believed to be mentally deranged, attacked her with a chopper at Laichikok beach. Miss da Cruz's brother, who ran to her assistance, was slightly wounded, but neither were detained at the hospital.

Miss da Cruz, of 12, Granville Road, Kowloon, her brother and a friend, went to Laichikok to swim. After leaving the water, she walked up the sandy path from the beach when she was approached by the Chinese.

Without warning, he made a slash at her with a hatchet inflicting a deep cut in the middle finger of her right hand. Her brother, who was following close, behind came to her assistance, and received a slight wound in the neck.

A Chinese detective from Yau-mat Police Station, who was on special duty at the beach, was attracted by shouts and assisted by Private J. Crawford of the Lincolnshire Regiment, overpowered the assailant.

After being questioned at Sham-shuipo Police Station, the man was sent to the Government Civil Hospital for observation. Miss da Cruz and her brother were sent to the Kowloon Hospital for treatment.

The alleged assailant, Chiu Ho, is a shop fook employed at the Wo Sing Cheung preserved fruit factory, Laichikok. According to a statement made by his brother, also employed at the factory, Chiu Ho has acted queerly on previous occasions while in the country.

AEROPLANE LOST

CORNWALL'S MISFORTUNE
ON HOME TRIP

Minus an aeroplane, after battling through rough weather, H.M.S. Cornwall is due to arrive in Hongkong at about 6 p.m. to-morrow on her way home.

The cruiser had completed her summer cruise in northern waters and was at Shanghai on Saturday when a typhoon was approaching parallel to the coast and 50 miles out.

Although she escaped the full intensity of the typhoon, the cruiser encountered severe weather early yesterday and one terrific gust of wind tore a "Flycatcher" aeroplane from its moorings and hurled it overboard like a toy. The aircraft sank at once with all its equipment.

The Cornwall is due to leave the Colony on Thursday for re-commissioning and re-fitting. She is commanded by Captain R. B. Davies, V.C., D.S.O. and was last re-commissioned at Devonport on February 12, 1931. She is one of the five cruisers of the Kent Class ordered in 1924 at an average cost each of £1,970,000.

YOUR CHILD'S HEALTH

Normal healthy children are active and happy. When a child is fretful, does not want to play and refuses to eat, it is often a sign that the system is out of order.

Try CASTORIA! It is especially made for children's ailments. It quickly and gently stimulates the sensitive bowels, corrects upset stomach and aids digestion. It tastes good and may be given safely to the smallest baby.

U.S.A. TO SEND AIR ARMADA

PLANES CONSTRUCTED IN SECRET

The Daily Express announces in a message from Washington that President Roosevelt intends to send an American air fleet to Italy to return the visit of Marshal Balbo to Chicago.

On this trip, it is said, the world is to be surprised by the new type of aircraft, which has just been constructed in secret by the Consolidated Aircraft Corp. in Buffalo. The seaworthiness and flying power of this new vehicle are expected to exceed all that has gone before.

This decision of President Roosevelt is said to arise from a sincere personal desire to build a bridge across the ocean, that would bind the United States much closer and firmer to Europe.

WINE DUTY

BOTTLE FOUND IN CAPTAIN'S CABIN

A young Chinese, employed as captain's "boy" aboard the a.s. Kwong Fook Cheong, was fined $5 or seven days by Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning on a charge of evading duty on a quantity of wine.

Revenue-Officer Grimmitt.—One bottle was found in the captain's cabin, and the other two were found in another room to which the defendant had the keys. Defendant is the captain's "boy." The captain denied all knowledge of the bottle.

PASSING OF THE QUILL

STEEL PENS NOW USED IN COURT

OLD RELIC GOES

London. When Mr. Justice Atkinson, the new High Court Judge, signed the oath at his swearing-in, he used an ordinary steel pen.

This action marks yet another stage in the passing of the quill whose scratching was a familiar sound all over Europe only fifty years ago.

Not so many years ago, no Judge would have dreamt of signing any official document with anything but a quill pen.

Now, of all the Judges, only Lord Hanworth, Master of the Rolls, is known to sign documents with a quill. No King's Bench Division Judge has been seen to use a quill on the Bench in recent years. Most of them use a fountain pen.

One Judge, however, Sir Henry Dickens, the Common Serjeant, who retired recently, remained faithful to the tradition of the quill—perhaps in memory of his father the great novelist, who wrote many of his works with such an instrument.

Until the beginning of the war, every desk in the House of Commons was supplied with quills and members who did not carry a fountain pen were obliged to use them. But they have disappeared now.

Even the Treaty of Versailles was signed with fountain pens. And so, although quills, which were used as early as the 7th Century, may still be obtained at the Stationery Office, they are rapidly passing into oblivion.—Reuter.

CHINESE ADMIRAL.

ARRIVAL IN PEKING WITH GOVERNMENT REPORT

Peking, Sept. 2. Rear-Admiral Hsieh Kang-chih, the new Commander-in-Chief of the Third Naval Squadron (formerly the north-eastern naval squadron), arrived from Tsingtao this morning.

Interviewed by the Chinese press, Rear-Admiral Hsieh said he had come to report to General Ho Ying-ching on the reorganization of the squadron. He expected to spend a week here before proceeding to Nanking.

Rear-Admiral Hsieh revealed the interesting fact that many of the officers and men belonging to the three runaway warships were dissatisfied with conditions in the South and wanted to return to North China and re-join the northern fleet.

Rear-Admiral Hsieh Kang-chih was formerly chief of staff to Admiral Shen Hung-lich, Mayor of Tsingtao.—Reuter.

HURRICANE IN CUBA.

FIVE SHIPS WRECKED IN VIOLENT STORM

Miami, Florida, Sept. 2. A trail of havoc and devastation has been left by the violent hurricane which swept up the Caribbean Sea to Miami yesterday, causing widespread damage in north Cuba.

Six people were killed and many injured at Santa Clara, Cuba, where considerable damage was done to piers and ships.

Five ships, including two British vessels, were driven ashore off Miami, while two others were stranded off the coast of Cuba.—Reuter.
